

Burton Gallery & Emporium

Set in a tranquil garden setting, Burton Gallery features fine art paintings, pottery, regional folk pottery, wood turning, carved wood, jewelry, fused and stained glass, folk art, fiber art, hand made furniture, and the prints of beloved local artist, John Kollock.

Don't let the word gallery fool you - the last thing you will find when entering Burton Gallery & Emporium is an antiseptic gallery atmosphere. The Gallery is a warm, inviting place to stop in after a day of enjoying the lake or the Highway 197 scenic drive.

Burton Gallery welcomes you to browse through the shop, enjoy the Koi pond where children can feed the fish, or sit on the trellised bench and enjoy the babble of the pond's waterfall.

Displaying the diversity and high quality work of many local artisans, the gallery offers a true treasure house of one of a kind artwork.

This eclectic collection ranges from fine art to folk art, intermingled with high quality handcrafted items: paintings, prints, folk art, wood carvings, Amish-made furniture, hand carved walking sticks, folk and utilitarian pottery, hand painted furniture, turned wooden bowls, wind chimes, handmade jewelry and baskets.

www.burtongallery.com Website © Burton Gallery 2015. All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without the prior written permission of Burton Gallery.